LOCAL HISTORY.

The first election, in Wells township, for choosing township officers, was held in February 1850. At that election six school directors were elected. They were John Foote and David C. Ross for 3 years, Henry Keith and Henry Matthias for 2 years and Allen Willett and George Lockard for one year.

The newly elected board organized on April 13th following their election, John Foote was made president of the board, Henry Mathias secretary and Allen Willett treasurer.

After the organization had been effected Mr. Matthias offered a resolution to open two more schools in the district—thus making four. Mr. Ross voted against the resolution and Mr. Willett did not vote. At that meeting it was decided to build two new frame school houses, one at Camp Spring on land of David Stevens near New Grenada, and one on land of George Whitehill near M. E. church. Camp Spring is that which now supplies Mr. DeForest Keith's family with water. At same meeting a tax was levied to raise funds to pay for erection of new school houses and expense of carrying on four schools, nobody's tax to be less than seventy five cents.

The contract for building the new school houses was awarded to Wm. W. Edwards, he to receive $60 for building that at Camp Spring, and $69 for the one at M. E. church. Mr. Edwards failed to fulfill his bargain before October 1850 when the board annulled his contract.

The election for school directors in February 1851 resulted in the election of James M. Stunkard and a tie vote for John Wishart and Wm. W. Edwards. The school directors cut the tie by electing John Wishart. This board was organized April 4, 1851, John Foote continuing as president and John Wishart becoming secretary.

Soon after their organization the board relet the contracts for building the school houses at Camp Spring and M. E. church the first to K. A. Moore for $100, the other to Samuel Willett for $119. Both houses were ready for occupancy at beginning of school term of 1851-2.

The house at M. E. church stood at a turn in the Valley road and close to a high fence on one side of the narrow road the school house on the other made it difficult sometimes for teamsters to make the turn without colliding with the school house. Many such collisions did occur. This house with some changes in desks and seats was used for school purposes until 1878. It has long been used by Mr. N. S. Edwards as a stable.

The house at Camp Spring stood on other side of the spring from the public road and nearer to the little stream flowing down from the mountain than the spring is. It ceased to be a school house in 1863, was sold to K. A. Moore and converted into fuel.

When these houses were built, as well as those at Gibson's and Hivens', the era of school houses made of unbewn logs with spaces filled with "chunks" and mortar, had passed; but the time of slab seats without backs and desks of boards around the walls had not gone by. During the period of 40 to 60 years ago, the people of Wells township were, as a rule, very fortunate in their selection of school directors as the following list of the names of some of them will show. Some of those whose names are here given were elected several times, and others many times. Some of them were men of marked ability and intelligence, while all were men of strict integrity and pure motives, who had at heart the best interests of the schools under their charge. Some of them were, John Foote, J. G. Lyon, John Wishart, J. B. Alexander, Thomas Griffith, Wm. Horton, D. G. Duval, George White, G. W. R. Sipe, D. C. Ross, John Sharrer, Allen and Samuel Willett, George Whitehill, Joshua Edwards, N. W. Horton, J. S. Houck, J. C. Moore, J. G. Cunningham, David Osborne, John Alloway, S. P. Wishart. Of all these, but one is now living, Hon. S. P. Wishart of Wells Tannery.

Murder of Christian Ranck.

One of the later crimes to be treated in The North American's series of "Pennsylvania's Greatest Criminal Mysteries" is the murder of Christian Ranck, of Paradise township, Lancaster county.

Ranck was shot by some person hidden in the cellar of his home. Some small tracks, which might have been those of a woman, were found in the snow the next morning.

Many arrests were made, but no evidence could be found against those persons who were taken into custody, and all of them, they being mostly tramps, were released.

One romantic feature of this crime mystery is that the murder was committed on Christmas eve and that all the surroundings of a happy holiday scene accompanied the frightful tragedy.

The North American is printing one of these Pennsylvania mysteries every Sunday. All of them appear to be interesting to general readers, as well as criminal lawyers, and are certainly worthy of preservation as chapters of criminal history of the state.

This story will appear in the Sunday North American, April 30, 1911.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials. Address: F. J. Making The Man Provide.

California has adopted a principle of legislation which seems to be founded on good, sound sense and to be certain to prove a great success. Under the statutes of most of the states the man who deserts his wife and family is ordered by some court to pay a certain amount weekly for their support. In extreme cases he may be sent to jail. He may run away from the jurisdiction of the court and so fail to make the provision ordered. If jailed, he is deprived of opportunity to do anything for the family.

California meets all these conditions. There the deserter is to be sentenced to public work. The regular wage allowed for his labor is to be $1.50 a day, and this amount is to be applied to the maintenance of the wife and the little ones. The man who assumes the responsibilities of married life should be compelled to meet those responsibilities. No more cowardly, sneaking, despicable specimen of his sex is to be found than he who fails to do this. That California law seems to be a good model.

Midnight in the Ozarks and yet sleepless Hiram Scranton, of Clay City, Ill., coughed and coughed. He was in the mountains on the advice of five doctors, who said he had consumption, but found no help in the climate, and started home. Hearing of Dr. King's New Discovery, he began to use it. "I believe it saved my life," he writes, "for it made a new man of me, so that I can now do good work again." For all lung diseases, coughs, colds, lagrippe, asthma, croup, whooping cough, hay fever, hemorrhages, hoarseness, or quincy, it's the best known remedy. Price 50c and $1.00. Trial bottle free. WHIPS COVE.

The weather man on duty Sunday gave us a nice little snow again. Just when his supply of snow will be exhausted for this season, we have not been able to learn.

Will Hellman and Eli Shaeffer of Romney, Pa., came to Emory A. Diehl's Sunday evening, they are in the market for two horses.

We admire the energy of our Oliver representatives, H. M. Spangler and D. C. Mallott. Wind, snow, and rain make no change in their program, but like the bed-bug, they are right onto their job just the same. Three more sales were added to the list last week making a total of 34 machines sold in this county since Mr. Mallott took the agency less than two years ago.

Ed Diehl has a very sick horse as the result of its breaking into the chop bin.

D. C. Mallott was at Mercersburg last week and while there called on Dr. J. S. Swartzwelder, and purchased a pony wagon and trappe for the babies.

The great and growing demand for walnut has resulted in a noticeable depletion of walnut trees in this and other States. Exporters make systematic tours through the rural regions buying up all the walnut trees that can be had. They pay $50 to $100 a tree, or even more if the specimen is particularly attractive. A big walnut tree on the Hunchinson estate, in Cheltenham township, Montgomery county, has just been cut down and the timber will be shipped abroad.
